The Challenge

In the fast-paced environment of event management, seamless, reliable communication is critical. CO Productions believes two-way radios are an indispensable tool to enhance event coordination by: ensuring teams are properly synchronized during live events; improving response times when addressing on-site challenges or emergencies; streamlining operations by keeping all staff connected across large venues; and generally ensuring a professional event execution to meet client expectations.

The Solution

Hytera recommended its S-mini and S1 Pro two-way radios as excellent options for CO Productions because their features and capabilities are tailored for event management and entertainment industries. CO Productions took possession of two S-mini and eight S1 Pro devices.

The Hytera S-mini is extremely compact and lightweight, which makes it ultra-portable. It is easy for team members to carry and use throughout even a very long event. Its discreet size allows for unobtrusive communication, which is ideal for events where professionalism and subtlety are key.

The Hytera S1 Pro is sleek and light and provides the perfect balance between elegance and performance, making it an ideal device for the smart events and entertainment industry.

Both devices offer exceptionally clear audio even in noisy environments such as concerts or festivals where ambient sound levels are high. They also have a very long battery life of 16-18 hours for the S-mini and 16-19 hours for S1 Pro, so both devices will easily last a long shift at an all-day or even multi-day event.

The Benefits

Coordination Across Teams

The S-mini and S1 Pro enable seamless communication between sound and lighting technical staff, event managers and stage crew, ensuring everyone stays in sync.

Flexibility and Versatility

Whether it's a small corporate function or a large-scale festival, the range and features of these radios adapt to different environments.

Professional Presentation

The sleek design of these devices aligns with CO Productions' reputation for professionalism and smart presentation.

Enhanced Efficiency

Real-time communication keeps the event management team connected across large venues, which reduces delays, prevents miscommunication and ensures smooth event execution.

Improve Response Time

The radios allow for rapid coordination of appropriate personnel to quickly address any on-site challenges or emergencies.

Affordable Solution

The competitive pricing of the S-mini and S1 Pro make the devices an economical choice for equipping large teams without compromising on quality.

Durability and Reliability

The radios are built to handle demanding environments, from outdoor festivals to large indoor corporate functions.

Customizable Options

The devices support optional accessories like earpieces and shoulder microphones, allowing CO Productions staff to access hands-free and discreet communication.

Advanced Features

The S1 offers enhanced features like extended range and advanced noise cancellation, making it ideal for large venues or outdoor events with multiple zones.

Customer Testimonial

"At CO Productions, seamless communication is the backbone of our success, whether we're managing intimate corporate events or large-scale festivals featuring top Afrikaans artists. Integrating Hytera S-mini and S1 two-way radios into our operations has been a game-changer."

"The S-mini's compact design and comfortable earpiece keep our team connected during concerts and festivals, while the S1's extended range and noise cancellation are perfect for larger, more demanding events. Both radios ensure quick response times, real-time updates, and smooth coordination across sound, lighting and stage crews."

"Thanks to Hytera, we've enhanced our efficiency and upheld our reputation for flawless event execution. These radios are now an essential part of our toolkit, and I highly recommend them."
